Lesson Plan Goals & Objectives (Specify skills/information that will be learned.)	Students will examine ways to build family relations Students will identify activities to do with their families Students will plan a family reunion
Materials Needed	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Paper • Pencil • Computer with internet • Reunion forms
Introduction of Subject Anticipatory set (Give and/or demonstrate necessary information)	Ask how many students have ever attended a family reunion? Discuss the purpose of reunions with the students. Ask what their favorite part of family reunions was and what is their least favorite part? Discuss
Steps Guided Practice Verification (Steps to check for student understanding)	Make sure students understand the purpose of reunions and the fact that there are varying types of reunions.

Activity 1 (Describe the independent activity to reinforce this lesson)	Inform students that they are to plan a family reunion. They will need to identify; <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Whom is invited (immediate family, multiple generations, ect) ▪ How long it will be (hours or days) ▪ Where it will be ▪ When Students can use the reunion forms as a starting point or go online for ideas. Inform students that the reunion planned should fit their family likes and size. For example- you wouldn't plan a three day camping family reunion if most of your family can't get along for thanksgiving dinner or if no one likes to camp.
Assessment	Student reunion plans
Summary/Evaluation (Assign Homework, or Reflect on the Outcomes)	Have students determine if they will carry out their reunion plans and explain their next step if they are going to proceed or if not explain why.
